HORSE THIEF PLEADS GUILTY== SENT TO GREENSBURG JAIL IN DEFAULT OF $500 BAIL

Information was made yesterday against Frank Schuchman of near Webster, by Justice John C. Rankin of Rostraver township, the charge being horse stealing, and the case was heard by Justice J. B. White.

It appears that Squire Rankin had driven to Webster and hitched his horse near the Webster hotel while he attended to business matters about town. During his absence Schuchman happened along and seeing the horse and buggy which evidently "looked good to him," he deliberately jumped into the buggy and drove off in the direction of the brick road.

Some one about the hotel saw the man's actions and a man named James Taylor gave chase overtaking the fleeing man and rig before he had gone more than 125 feet.

Squire Rankin was hunted up and notified, and Constable Walter Wilson placed the alleged horse thief under arrest. He was brought to Monessen during the afternoon and given a hearing before Squire White.

The evidence was conclusive and Schuchman plead guilty, giving as his only reason that he was drunk and did not know what he was doing.

Schuchman for some time has been operating a junk boar and ferry a short distance below Webster and is said to be an unreliable character.

Justice White committed the defendant to jail at Greensburg to await court trial in default of $500 bail. Squire Rankin's outfit was valued at $300.

REAL ESTATE MEN AWAIT INVESTIGATION

Real estate men are wondering if the committee appointed by council to investigate rents in Monessen and report to the government, will demand the right to scrutinize rent lists of agents. One councilman, appointed on the investigating committee, was asked this morning, but he seemed to be somewhat at a loss to know just how to answer since the committee has not been called together and he has not been instructed as to the scope of his official duties. Some of the men engaged in the renting business have spoken in a very approving manner of the investigation and will co-operate in the broadest sense, and they will not only cooperate, but they feel that a committee of the board of trade should assist the committee of council. One agent expressed himself as though the town ought to be districted and a house to house canvass made and the committee should visit with the tenants and property owners and sort of act as a go-between and where there is any dispute, try to amicably settle it, and if the matter cannot be brought to common ground, summon witnesses in the same manner as the public service commisson and then render decisions upon the merits of in deferred draft classes are having decision to the government. It has also been suggestd that much could be found out by making this round of the town as to the efficiency of the garbage system. The committee will be acting with full authority and the scope of the work that can be done is almost boundless.

NOTICE FIREMEN

Members of the Volunteer Fire company are requested to meet Thursday evening, Aug. 22 in the borough building at 8 o'clock for the transaction of important business.

By order of

Sam Meyers, Sec.

WILL YOU HELP?

Of course you will. Every red-blooded American, young man or woman, wants to help win this war. The government needs you for clerical work, business firms need you to take the place of men who have gone or who must go. It is your patriotic duty to respond, but you are not making a sacrifice. The salaries being paid for this work are very attractive. Twentieth Century Bookkeeping and Paragon shorthand will enable you to qualify in the shortest possible time.

Many high class young women and boys are here now. Will you join them? We offer you expert instruction, first class equipment, and individual attention. We have received many urgent calls fom the different department of the government asking us to urge you to qualify and accepts employment in the civil service and we have never known a graduate of this school to fail in the Civil Service examination. Call, write or phone for full information.

Wierd Woman Startles Street Car Passengers

Great consternation reigned on a street car arriving from Pittsburgh a few evenings ago when a woman possessing powers of witchcraft started on a tirade of reading the titles clear of passengers in the car. She wound up with a prediction of the ending of the war that made the passengers gaze into blank space, while the conductor rang up the fares of those entering as the car stopped at the crossings.

The woman boarded the car in the vicinity of Black Diamond and every seat being taken by one passenger who likes to crowd in next to the window and go to sleep, the wierd woman sat down beside a well dressed lady who had evidently not ridden far enough to have a monopoly on the seat. She resented the intrusion of the gypsy madam and her skirts rattled and her diamonds flashed while she crowded out past the unwelcome visitor and planted herself on the end of the seat directly in front and as she sat down she gave her shoulders a shrug that showed she was greatly displeased.

The woman of mystery drew a deep breath comingled with a sigh of disgust and then blurted out loud enough for every passenger to hear "You think you are the whole cheese with only 19 cents in your pocket," and she started on a tirade of character delineation of the woman that showed clearly that she was a reader of past, present and future.

A man across the aisle saw an opportunity to take advantage of a vein of humor and he proceeded to have a public reading of himself. The woman told him exactly how much money was in his pocketbook, where he was going, how old he was and accurately answered every question he put to her. A number of other passengers did likewise and finally there was a demand to ascertain the exact amount of money on the person who had become highly insulted at the first appearance of the madam of witchcraft on the car, and she was induced to draw out of a handbag a little purse that contained exactly nineteen cents. Then the woman added "Now, I'll tell you where you are going. You are going to Roscoe to care for a sick daughter" and she confessed to the destination and the mission.

Of course everybody on the car wanted to know when the war would end and the woman replied that it would end two months from a certain date in August 1918, at which time hostilities would be called off and not another shot would be fired. Two Monessen people were on the car and witnessed everything that transpired, but they are of the opinion that the prophesy on the war was a delusion.

The moral is don't get fussy if you have to sit on a street car beside an absolute stranger of apparent peculiar characteristics.

Red Cross Help

Two substantial donations were received yesterday by the local Red Cross Chapter, one for $57.75, which Mrs. A. J. White reported as the net proceeds from the sale of refreshments on the Steamer Sunshine, on the occasion of the Knights of Malta picnic at Kennywood park. Mrs. White acted as chairman of the Red Cross committee, and took charge of the lunch and other refreshments to and from Duquesne.

The other contribution was for $50.00 from the Polish Musical Society, of which Mr. Josef Zelczak, Mr. Marcin Gladyz and Mr. Peter Lubeski are the officers. This donation was made out of the treasury funds of the organization. The Poles in America realize the fortunes of their European country are hanging in the balance, and they are bringing all their energies to bear to help the entent allies to victory.

PASSAGE OF "DRY" AMENDMENT IS PREDICTED BY ITS ADVOCATES--VOTE COMES SOON

Passage of the prohibition amendment to the emergency agricultural appropriation bill by the middle of next week, with a margin of 15 votes to spare was predicted by "dry" leaders in the senate this week.

The prohibition amendment will be called up for action Monday, under the Senate agreement, but if the administration man power bill has not been passd by that time will be laid aside temporarily. The indications were that the man power bill would be passed by Saturday night leaving the way clear for prohibition on Monday.

On a test vote on prohibition before the senate recesses the vote stood 36 to 33, giving the prohibitionists majority of three. The test came when the president of the Senate ruled that the prohibition amendment was not in order as an amendment to an appropriation. The Senate overruled him. Dry leaders said that from 12 to 15 of those who voted with their opponents were prohibitionists, who differed with them merely on this point of parliamentary law.

The amendment in its present form would halt the manufacture of beer and wine November 1, and the sale of all alcoholic beverages January 1. The drys announced that they were prepared to accept amendments that would extend the time three months—stopping the brewing of beer and wine February 1 and the sale of all liquor April 1.

Thus the drys will steal a march on the wets if the extension amendments are adopted. Anti-Prohibitionists have insisted that six months should be allowed after January 1 for the liquidation of liquor properties. Adopting the amendments would cut the term of grace in half.

It is conceded that the House will adopt the amendments in whatever form the Senate approves it and with a much larger majority. The lower body in June adopted a much more radical prohibition provision—the Randall amendment—which would have attempted to coerce the President into issuing a prohibition proclamation.

Senator Phelan will offer an amendment to the provision agreed upon by the agricultural committee, except wine from its provisions. This will lead to much debate, and there is a possibility that it will be adopted, although the drys insist they have the votes to beat it.

The general proposition of whether there shall be prohibition for the period of the war, will be little debated. Only a small part of Monday's session, if prohibition is taken up on that day, will be given over to it. A vote probably will be reached by the following evening.

Several amendments extending the time for prohibiting all sales for periods ranging from eight months to a year will be put forward, but they will be bitterly fought by the prohibitionists. Dry leaders are considering the possibility that the war will be won before the year is out and since the prohibition amendment on which they will vote is only a "war measure," it would be invalidated if it did not become effective before the conclusion of the war.

Senator Sheppard, leader of the dry forces in the Senate, said that most of the liquor in the hands of distillers has been passed on to speculators and that the profit made on these sales will fully cover the losses inflicted upon liquor dealers when they are put out of business.

He pointed out that while the consumption of alcohol for beverage purposes is only 6,000,000 gallons a month, the American consumption of industrial alcohol is 10,000,000 gallons a month and is still growing. This makes it certain, he said, that all distilleries can be converted into plants for the manufacture of industrial acohol wth a minimum of loss.

The amount of whiskey remaining in bond is estimated at 80,000,000 gallons. The larger part of this, he said, would be consumed before sales would be prohibited under the dry amendment and the rest would be either exported or used for medical purposes thereafter.

WORDS OF PRAISE FOR LIEUT. LAMB

H. L. Lamb, of the California Sentinel, has received word that his son, Lieut. Levi Lamb, had been killed in action near Soissons, France, on July 18th. Only a few days ago Mr. Lamb received word from the Adjutant General's office at Washington informing him that his son had been seriously wounded. Levi Lamb was a well known athlete and took part in many field meets in this city and was favorably known among a large circle of friends. The letter containing the sad news came from Col. L. S. Upton, commander of the Ninth regiment to which young Lamb was attached, and is as follows:

Headquarters Ninth United States Infantry, American Expeditionary Forces, July 22, 1918.

H. L. Lamb, Esq., California, Pa.—

Lieut. Levi L. Lamb was killed leading his command in action during the allied advance on Soissons, July 18. His death was instantaneous. His regiment lost a gallant and courageous officer, beloved alike by his fellow officers and his men. His conduct during the battle, as in former engagements, has been of the highest order and was an inspiration to all about him.

The officers and men of the Ninth Infantry extend to you their heartfelt sympathy. Sincerely,

L. S. Upton,
Colonel Ninth Infantry.

Sewer Clogged

The storm sewer on Donner avenue has been clogged up since the storm of a week ago and workmen are trying to locate the trouble. Work started yesterday morning at tearing up the paving and the flushing process has been gone through with, but as yet there is no relief in sight. It is believed that while the drops were opened to care for the rush of water that debris entered the mouth of the sewer sufficient to clog it.

Jealousy Cause of Shooting

Shot down in his door yard at Youngstown yesterday, Frank Pappas, aged 26, died almost instantly yesterday, and his alleged slayer, Joseph Mitchell, aged 29, escaped. Jealousy, aroused by alleged attentions to Mrs. Mitchell, prompted the crime. Pappas operated a restaurant and the Mitchells lived nearby. Mitchell is a steel worker.

BLOOD TAINT IN PROFITS

"Draft the war profits. Put a heavier tax in profiteers. Price fixing has not curbed profiteering. But the administration has had two objects in mind. The first was to secure production. Production had to be stimulated. Now the time has come to carry out the second part of the program, which is to tax a large share of the profits of the big fellows into the public treasury."

When are we going to make war our sole business and get into it for all we're worth? Draft the war profits? Certainly, just as we draft the warriors. Do we draft the leg, the arm, or the ear of a man? No, we take the whole man, regardless of whether or not he wants to be taken, regardless of the effect upon his whole life. Are the war profits of hog-killing, or copper-mining corporations more sacred than the career and the wife, children, mother of a man?

Price-fixing has not curbed the making of blood money; put a heavier tax on the making of blood money! Why not the heaviest—100 per cent. You draft the whole man. You put a hundred per cent. tax on the hearts, if not the bodies as well of the dear ones from whose association and support you take him.

But the proposition to concede reasonable profit and then take 100 per cent of the war profits for war use is always met by these fears, which are strongly advanced by the war profiteers, largely: Production must be stimulated. You will put small concerns at ruinous disadvantage.

What is a concern that refuses to do its best in this world war without the bribe of amnormal profits, blood money? It is not patriotic. If it is not patriatic it is pro-German. Is there any escape from this coclusion? What would be done to a man who should announce that he wouldn't fight, wouldn't buy war stamps or bonds, nor subscribe to Red Cross funds, unless paid an abnormal price? He'd be set down as sneak and traitor and maybe lynched. Is there something holier in an insenate corporation? Has the corporation some divine right to lie down, in the national crisis, because it has conscientious scruples against serving without big blood money remuneration? Is the merchant, shop-keeper, small business man to be made to sacrifice "business as usual," while the hundred millions of us save and chip in to make business better than ever for the few who have a cinch on selling war necessities to a suffering, hard-up world?

War profiteers are like drunkards Their appetites are insatiable, and, as in the case of drunkards, there's no moral or patriotic obligation that stands in the way of their filling themselves up. Price-fixing, like the few kind words of advice, given the drunkard, hasn't done any curbing. Stimulating the profiteer is reforming the drunkard by pouring rum into him.

The cure for the war-profiteering corporation that lies down on production is to commandeer, as a last resort, but without fear or hesitation when the necessity arrives.

What with contributions to war funds and payment of war prices for living necessities, 90 per cent. or more of the American people are on a reasonable profit basis as return for their labor. Until all the institutions in the country are down to that basis, America will not be in the war for all she's worth, will not put an end to the sacrifice and slaughter as soon as she might, which means that she is brutally and criminally crucifying humanity for the benefit of the greedy profiteer.

FIRST AERIAL MAIL IN 1803

To President Jefferson Really Belongs the Honor of Instituting Something New in Message Line.

While all unite in praise of Postmaster General Burleson in inaugurating an aerial mail service between New York and Washington, Americans should not make the mistake of crediting the present administration with the first aerial mail service between the two cities.

As a matter of fact, that honor falls to the administration of Thomas Jefferson more than a hundred years ago. It all attended the transmission of the deeds of the Louisiana purchase to France.

Mr Jefferson, of course, was very anxious about the matter, and after the deeds had been sent from Washington to Paris, and the time had come when the vessel bearing the signed deeds back to this country was due, Mr. Jefferson, unable to withhold impatience, sent some carrier pigeons to New York to be held until the vessel arrived and then released, bearing word of the fact of their arrival. This was done, and accordingly the first aerial mail service dates back not to this spring but to the year 1803.

DISTINCTLY WAS NOT "O. K."

Physician Discovered a Few Things Wrong With Man Who Had Believed Himself Well.

There was recently an article in the American Magazine in which a writer told how to live and linger longer. In one part of it, the author told of a man who thought he was O. K. until he was examined by a doctor. This is what the man said:

"My arteries had thickened. (The letter had stated that, but it meant nothing to me.) That is, their covering had grown thicker and less elastic. In a healthy man they wouldn't have begun to do this until forty years or more. If they kept on at the rate they were going they would be stiff before many years. "Pipestem" arteries he called them. That meant a disturbance in the circulation that had already begun and had already threatened my heart. More than that, these defects in circulation had thrown a heavier burden upon my kidneys. Constipation and its results, that is, the retention of poisons in the body, had put another load on the overburdened kidneys, until the excretions from them showed plainly that they couldn't carry that load, and work well. And then, to cap the whole thing, I had a tooth that was suspicious. It had all the earmarks of one with an abscess at the root. It would take an X-ray to make certain, but if there was one there it meant that pus from that was draining through my body and adding to its burden'"

HAVE THEIR OWN TROUBLES

By No Means an Easy Task for Stokers to Hit the Furnace Door When Ship Rolls.

It was while I was being initiated into the technique of stoking by shoveling coal under the boilers that a change of course brought the swinging seas dead aneam, and set the ship rolling even more drunkenly than before, writes Lewis R Freeman in Popular Mechanics Magazine. After failing to hit the "dark spots" and "hollows" two or three times as I staggered to the roll, and once even missing the furnace door itself, one of the stokers, taking compassion, relieved me of the scoop and put the trouble right with a half-dozen quickly tossed shovelfuls. I was frankly glad to work over to where I could take a "half-nelson" round a bar by the starboard bunker.

A heavy slam-banging from the opposite end of the boiler room indicated that things were not going quite so smoothly there, and edging cautiously along, I was presently able to get some hint of the cause from the words of a volubly cursing stoker who limped out to tell me that the "blinkin' skip 'as took charge" Rubbing a bruised shin and glowering balefully from a blackened eye which appeared to have been bumped against a boiler, he explained, in language more forceful than elegant, that some impractical theorist had encouraged them to experiment with wheels on the side of the skip, with the idea of making it easier to push about over the coal-cluttered deck. In the picturesque language of the sea, it had "taken charge" and so effectually that one swift, straight rush to starboard, followed by a "googly" progress back to port, put every man who, either by chance or intent, barred its way, more or less hors de combat.

Straight down the one-in-three incline from the port to the starboard bunkers lolloped the juggernaut, dashing the protesting anatomies of the stokers to left and right as it went. Spitting blood and oaths indiscriminately, one man clung to it all the way, however, and he also it was who—taking advantage of the tilt—finally rendered it harmless by pushing it over on its side, where it was left wiggling impotently like an overturned turtle.

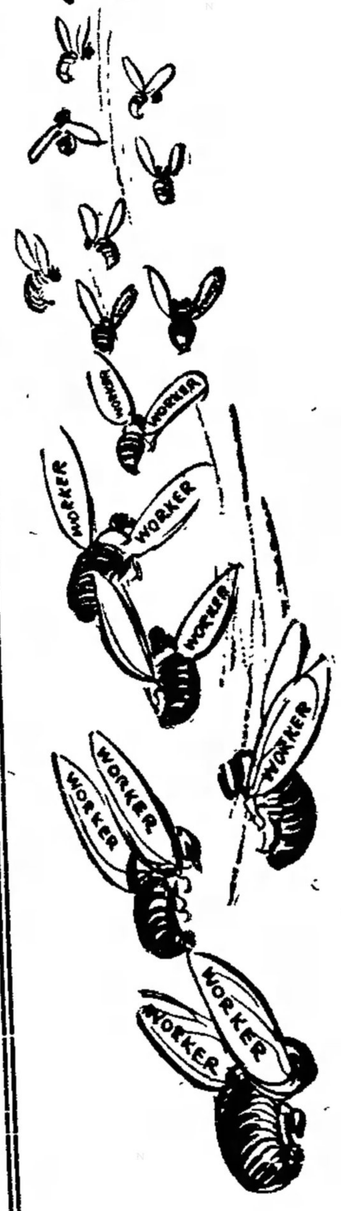
Be Busy As A Bee



This war will be won by the workers.
The steady worker is the REAL PATRIOT.
Get ON THE JOB, and you'll win, for yourself and for YOUR COUNTRY.

If there ever was a time when WORKERS WERE NEEDED, that time IS NOW.

The efforts of your hands and your brains are needed to support and assist the BOY IN CAMP and IN FRANCE. He is offering his all, his life and health for the service of his country.

All you are asked to give is your support, by getting on the job and doing your share of WORK (at better pay than ever before in the history of this country.)

Let the Busy Bee be your example.

Let this city of Monessen be as busy as a humming Hive. Do you work well. Be satisfied with your job and make the most of it, and you need not worry about advancement. It is sure to come.

Monessen is forging ahead in a commercial way. There is a plenty of good work here for all. Plenty of homes to be owned by workers. Plenty of banks to take care of your earnings and help you BUY A HOME, or start in a BUSINESS OF YOUR OWN.

You'll come out MOST SUCCESSFUL in the end if you HOLD THE JOB YOU HAVE—save some Money—buy THRIFT STAMPS — and BOOST FOR MONESSEN.

These firms and individuals are public-spirited and have the interests of the WORKER AT HEART. Ask them about your chances for advancement and YOUR OPPORTUNITY TO GROW WITH MONESSEN.

We Invite Comparison

14,000 MEN BY SEPTEMBER

Pennsylvania was called upon yesterday by the provst marshal general to furnish almost 14,000 men to be sent to Camps Dix, Sherman, Meade and Greenleaf in the first six days of September.

The new calls are for the entrainment on September 1 of 749 Negroes qualified for general military service for Camp Sherman and for entrainment between September 3 and 6 of 8,000 men for Camp Greenleaf, Ga., 150 men for Camp Dix and 500 for Camp Sherman, white, and to be taken from Class 1, Group C, qualified for special or limited service. Special warnings are given that special and general service men are not to be entrained together.

QUIT MEAT WHEN KIDNEYS BOTHER

Take a glass of Salts before breakfast if your Back hurts or Bladder is troubling you.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which excites the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

DEFERRED MEN ARE VERY HARD HIT

Col. William A. Gaston, head of the Public Service Reserve in Massachusetts, has found that young men in dferred draft classes are having difficulties in conforming to the "work or fight" regulation because employers refuse to give them jobs owing to their lack of mechanical training.

These young men, who are married or otherwise supporting dependent relations, have been forced out of their jobs in stores and elsewhere by the draft regulation providing that thy must be engaged in productive work. The consequence is that they have been placed in a serious position which Col. Gaston is endeavoring to improve.

He has issued a patriotic appeal to employers in Massachusetts to give these young men employment, regardless of their inexperience. He suggests that it is one way by which manufactureres can do their part in the war—by enabling these young men to support themselves and their dependents while they are learning mechanical trades.

James McGrady, former president of the Boston Central Labor Union, who is associated with Col. Gaston in this work, expresses the view that the young men, most of whom are well educated and have been engaged in work considered important in peace time, will be able to learn rapidly, and that in giving them the chance the employers are not only manifesting their own willingness to help the government, but are enabling the young men to serve where they can best serve.

ALL HAD HAD SOME PROMINENCE

Every day the newspapers tell of some one or another of the Yanks having been awarded the cross of war for conspicuous bravery in action. Every day these same dispatches carry the story of some intrepid charge against the enemy trenches, the storming of some machine gun nest, the taking of another town or two in desperate hand to hand fighting. And our hearts swell with pride that it is so.

Equally appreciative of their prowess are the allied leaders. "You have shown yourselves to be worthy sons of our great country and have gained the admiration of your brother in arms," declared General Mangin the other day in an official order thanking the Yanks for their part in the last great thrust against the Huns.

General Mangin voiced the sentiments of the entire membership of the allied general staff. For the Yanks have made good with a vengeance.

We are wholly justified in being proud of them. We can look the whole world in the eye, knowing they rank with the finest. We can justly feel again that the traditions of American arms have been upheld; that in the eyes of the world America no longer stands accused of pacifism at the cost of honor; of meek submission to the ruthless arrogance of any people drunk with power.

Once more we may hold up our heads, square our shoulders, take a reef in our trousers and intimate to the world at large that it's dangerous pastime to tread upon the tail of our coat.

Thanks to the khaki clad Yanks.

And shortly we are to have an opportunity to prove just how much we value our new-found standing in the eyes of the world. To repay, indirectly, these restorers of our national self-respect.

For the Fourth Liberty Loan is very close at hand.

Make your tribute to their bravery a substantial one.

Begin early to prepare for this.

YANKS GET CREDIT FOR BRAVERY

Paris Island, S. C., Aug. 21—Captain Edwin Denby of the Marine Corps, was leaving Paris Island, the great eastern training camp for Devil Dog recruits. He was talking things over with his successor, Lieut. Arthur Brenner Jasques. The practice of law was mentioned.

"That once was my profession," said Captain Denby, "I was a Congressman from Michigan.

"And I," said Lieutenant Jacques, "was a page in the House of Representatives."

Just then the door opened and in walked Private Ward B. Arbury, of the 20th company U. S. Marines.

"This completes the triangle," said the captain. "Private Arbury formerly was my secretary in Congress."

Proving thereby, that it's a small, small world, especially when the Marines are concerned.

Clubs Have Been Closed

Four Elwood City clubs, among them being the German and Roumanian clubs, were closed yesterday by order of the United States government. The reason given is that the clubs were too close to manufacturing plants engaged in work on government orders.

GERMAN OFFICER HELD SHOW TICKET

A story indicating that an officer of one of the German submarines operating off the American coast may have attended a New York theatre on the night of August 8, was disclosed yesterday by a woman who was a member of the summer colony at Nantucket, Mass. She was among those who tendered assistance to the fishermen brought to the island Aug. 11, after a submarine had destroyed their vessels the previous day off Georges Bank.

One of the fishermen, a member of the crew of the Lena A, told her, she said, that he was questioned by the German petty officer who boarded the schooner. During the conversation they talked of New York and the fisherman asked the German if he had ever been there. The officer, he said, smiled and took from his pocket two seat checks for a Broadway theatre dated "Thursday evening, Aug. 8," two days before the attack on the fishing fleet.

In telling the incident, the woman explained that the story had slipped her mind until it was recalled to her by reports from Washington, yesterday, that the raiders were believed to have landed men on these shores. Her story was corroborated by another prominent resident of the island who also interviewed the fishermen.

BARN DESTROYED BY EXPLOSION

When a gasoline tank exploded at the Baxter farm in North Sewickley township Monday night, two men were severely burned and the barn, with its contents, was destroyed, entailing a loss of $10,000.

William Beegle, oged 18, son of J. E. Beegle of New Brighton, was burned about the face, arms and body. John Baxter, aged 17, of North Sewickley, was burned about the arms and body.

J. E. Beegle and family were returning by automobile from a camping trip and had stopped at the Baxter farm to get gasoline. In some manner the gasoline exploded and the young men were enveloped in the flaming oil. Val Lane, a farm hand, covered the boys with coats, probably saving their lives.

JUDGE REFUSED PLEA OF PRISONER

When Mat Brown, convicted of assault and battery and felonious cutting at the June term of court at Uniontown, was called for sentence yesterday by Judge E. H. Reppert, he pleaded with the judge to suspend sentence so that he could go to war.

Judge Reppert refused the appeal, saying a workhouse sentence of one year would do him more good than the war. Brown was convicted of cutting Henry Jackson in the face during a quarrel last spring.

Doctor Prescribes Vinol

For Schoolboy to Creat Strength After Sickness

Vineland, N. P.—"I am a schoolboy, 17 years of age, and typhoid fever left me weak and debilitated, so I had to stay out of school three months—my doctor prescribed Vinol. It has built up my strength and now I am feeling fine."—S. E. Bunce.

The reason Vinol was so successful in this boy's case is because it contains beef and cod liver peptones, iron and manganese peptonates and glycerophosphates, the very elements needed to build up a weakened run-down system, make rich, red blood and create strength.—Craig's Drug Store, Hirsch Drug Co. and druggists everywhere. 1t

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache is a sign you have been eating too much meat, which forms uric acid.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.
